State Dept. "Irregularities" In Furniture Deal Charged

Sen. Proxmire Names Cabinet Member's Son

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) accused the State Department Monday of improperly buying $89,400 worth of office furniture from the son of Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller.

"Serious irregularities . . . spendthrift waste," said Proxmire, who has been cited by the Eisenhower administration as a wasteful spender himself.

The son, Frederick E. Mueller, president of the Mueller Metals Corp. of Grand Rapids, Mich., retorted that Proxmire was playing partisan politics with half-facts and innuendoes.

Since January 1958, Proxmire said, the company has been given nine contracts by the State Department and "not one of the contracts was awarded on the basis of competitive bids."

Commission Mentioned

The senator said the agency letting the contracts was the Foreign Service Buildings Commission and, he added, Mueller was a member of it.

"No voice in this administration has more vehemently denounced the Democratic party for waste and corruption than the present secretary of commerce, Mr. Frederick Mueller," Proxmire said.

"I suggest he consider some spendthrift waste might close to home."

The commission mentioned by Proxmire was created in 1926 but State Department officials said it hasn't met in at least 10 years.

William P. Hughes, director of the Office of Foreign Buildings, said Mueller had never been called to meet as one of the commissioners.

Hughes said his office was given the commission's functions in 1939 and that Mueller was never called on to act in that connection.

Mueller Declines Comment

Mueller declined to comment on Proxmire's charges but, an aide, after talking with him, told news-men that the secretary has never tried to solicit government business for any firm. He said that when Mueller came to the Commerce Department in 1955 he severed all his own furniture business connections, and that he has no interest in his son's firm.

A denial of any extravagance came from the son in his statement at Grand Rapids. He said his firm, with a payroll of 25, did business with the State Department for years before his father became a cabinet member.

Proxmire, in raising his charges may have been thinking back to the time two years ago that President Eisenhower denounced him as a spender who, Eisenhower said, singlehandedly introduced bills to authorize spending 23 billion dollars.

N&W, Nickel Plate Agree On Merger

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Norfolk and Western Railway Co. and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Co. (Nickel Plate) announced plans Monday to merge into one large, wealthy carrier.

The conditional agreement would form a railroad extending from Norfolk, Va., through West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana with vital lines extending also to St. Louis and Great Lakes cities including Chicago and Buffalo.

The agreement is contingent on approval of stockholders and the Interstate Commerce Commission, and acquisition of a 110-mile connecting link in Ohio from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The merged road would be among the 10 largest in the nation and based on 1959 combined earnings would be the most successful. Assets of the two roads now total slightly more than $1,400,000,000.

Eisenhower Jet Lands At Wake Island

Continues Journey Toward Philippines, First Asian Stop

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower took off from Wake Island at 8:34 p.m., EST, the White House said Monday night, headed for Manila, first Asian stop on his goodwill tour of the Far East. He had arrived at Wake Island from Anchorage, Alaska, at 7:24 p.m., EST.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—President Eisenhower flew high over the Pacific Monday toward the friendly Philippines, the first Asian stop in a 22,795-mile journey that will take him to riot-ridden Tokyo.

Despite continuing warnings of trouble ahead, the President appeared determined to go ahead with his scheduled three-day goodwill trip to Japan, including a possibly dangerous motorcade into crowded Tokyo.

Immediately ahead of him, however, lay a three-day visit to Manila, the Philippine capital, where Eisenhower is regarded as somewhat of a local boy who made good.

As a young Army major he served four years, from 1935-39, as an aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then military adviser to the Philippines. This will mark Eisenhower's first visit to the Philippines since 1946 when he toured the Far East as Army chief of staff.

Eisenhower was due to arrive in Manila after a 6,700-mile over-water flight that would keep him in his orange-nosed jet 13 hours and 40 minutes.

En route, he was to make a 75-minute refueling stop at lonely Wake Island, the mid-Pacific dot famous as a wartime base against Japan.

Cheers and applause from some 30,000 Alaskans lasted right up to the time he ended his 20-hour stay at Elmendorf Air Force Base and took off at 6:43 a. m., Anchorage time.

The President departed through overcast skies, after brief military ceremonies at the Elmendorf.

Vest Pocket Revolt Flop In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A vest pocket revolt in western Argentina fizzled out on the eve of President Arturo Frondizi's departure for a month-long trip to Europe Monday. It was the first open rebellion since June 1956, when Peronists staged a quickly smashed uprising against the provisional government of President Pedro Aramburu.

The new revolt, by 300 to 400 men from an anti-aircraft group in San Luis province, was announced shortly after midnight with a radio declaration that the rebels had seized the province. Six hours later, the revolution collapsed when no help arrived from other military units.

Before dawn, an Interior Ministry spokesman said loyal troops had captured Gen. Mauricio Gomez, commander of the 2nd Argentine army, who reportedly had joined the rebels. Another rebel, Gen. Fortunato Giovannoni, whom the rebels named provisional president of the nation, reportedly fled to Chile by plane. In Santiago, the Chilean government said it had no information about him.

NYC Asks ICC Halt Proposed Mergers

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Central Railroad Monday called upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to halt all proposed rail mergers in the East. Such action should be taken until the ICC makes a thorough investigation of mergers now proposed, the Central petition said.

The petition was filed in Washington and made public in New York at the same time.

Tokyo Police Battle Radicals In Crackdown

TOKYO, Tuesday (UPI)—Increasingly tough Japanese police raided the headquarters of two anti-Eisenhower groups today and engaged in a stone-throwing melee with fanatical Zengakuren students who led the mob action against James C. Hagerty.

Police, moving to block the leftist-led demonstrations against President Eisenhower, swooped down on headquarters of a leftist labor union and of the Zengakuren which has threatened to "punish" Eisenhower with physical violence when he arrives here Sunday.

Eleven police were reported injured in a brawl with the Zengakuren students at Hosei University when students screaming with rage at what they called a "violation of human rights" cut loose with a barrage of stones.

Japanese press reports said students were kicked and injured by police in another raid on students at Tokyo Education University.

The Zengakuren retaliated by calling a demonstration by 2,000 students Tuesday in front of the national Parliament, where the upper house is debating ratification of the controversial U.S.-Japan security treaty.

The opposition Socialist party has pledged to prevent "deplorable incidents" during the Eisenhower visit, but the government feared new Red-inspired anti-Eisenhower rallies.

It appeared the Socialists, who had been in the vanguard of the rioters who attacked presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty and Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II in a limousine at Haneda Airport last Friday, were having second thoughts.

Seichi Katsumata, party propaganda chief, said: "We regretted very much the fact that the demonstrators had caused damage to Ambassador MacArthur's car."

IAM Ordered To Halt Secondary Picketing

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A federal judge Monday ordered the International Assn. of Machinists to stop secondary picketing immediately against five firms at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., missile base.

The temporary injunction by District Judge George Whitehurst allows the union's Lodge (local) 610 to continue its week-old strike against Convair Aeronautics Corp. It also allows the machinists to continue picketing.

Whitehurst, however, specifically instructed the union to "take affirmative action" to keep its members from influencing employees of five other firms from taking part in the walkout.

At Cape Canaveral, union officials said they will comply with the order.

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (UPI)—The Air Force announced Monday a 2½-ton monorail sled propelled by three Nike rockets reached 2,650 miles an hour, 3½ times the speed of sound.

The 48-foot sled was the longest ever fired at Holloman Air Force [Missile Development Center.

High Court Shuns Invitation To Set Up Gift Tax Rule

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, without laying down any general rule on just what gifts are tax-exempt, upheld Monday a jury verdict that union benefits paid to a striker were tax-free.

The court turned down a request from the Justice Department that it set up a new test for determining taxability of gifts in order to guide lower courts.

"We reject the invitation," Justice William J. Brennan said for the majority.

Brennan said he and the justices who agreed with him felt the governing principles in such cases are necessarily general.

Final Security Decision Ike's, Gates Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower—and only Eisenhower—makes the final decisions on national security questions after he and his top advisers thresh out the pros and cons, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. told senators Monday.

Gates said he wanted to dispel an idea—which he traced to published reports—that the National Security Council insulates Eisenhower from the hard facts and the hard decisions.

"The President himself makes the decisions," said Gates, who sits on the council—the top policy and planning body in the field of national security.

The defense chief testified before a Senate subcommittee that is trying to determine whether the government's policymaking machinery is working as it should.

In addition to crediting the National Security Council with operating smoothly as a team, Gates stoutly defended the present joint chiefs of staff arrangement in the Pentagon. Among other things, he rejected contentions that the individual chiefs push the interests of their own services too hard.

Court Annuls Marriage Of Bergman, Rossellini

ROME (AP)—Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini were legally parted Monday, officially ending a stormy romance that began 10 years ago on the volcanic Italian island of Stromboli.

A Rome civil tribunal annulled their Mexican proxy marriage, in effect ruling—as the Italian film director had maintained—that the marriage never existed.

Three children born of the now broken union will continue to carry the name Rossellini, according to Italian law. One of them, Roberto, was born before his parents' proxy wedding on May 24, 1950.

The Rome tribunal ruled that at the time of the proxy ceremony Miss Bergman was still the legal wife of Dr. Peter Lindstrom and that, therefore, her marriage with Rossellini was not valid.

The court's decision, following long and twisting procedure for more than two years, left Miss

Powers' Father Obtains Soviet Visa, Passport

WASHINGTON (AP)—Oliver W. Powers obtained speedy approval Monday from both the United States and Soviet Russia to go to Moscow in his effort to help his son, who is being held for trial as pilot of the downed U2 spy plane.

A Soviet embassy official said Powers was granted a visa to enter Russia which is good for 90 days. At the State Department, Powers obtained a passport within an hour of his application.

Powers set no specific date for his trip in his passport application. He indicated to newsmen at one point that he planned to go in August.

But Sol Cury, a Norton, Va., friend slated to travel with Powers, and Powers' Washington attorney, Franklin Schultz, both said the timing of the visit still was open.

Powers wants to go to Moscow to help his son, Francis G. Powers, whom the Soviets are holding as a spy for his May 1 flight deep into Russian territory. The U.S. intelligence pilot was captured after his plane came down. The affair set off international repercussions that have not yet ended.

The elder Powers, a 55-year-old cobbler from Pound, Va., showed up at the State Department's passport office early Monday morning with the required application papers all in order. A deputy passport chief, Edward J. Hickey, sped through the paper work and issued the passport less than an hour later.

Then Powers, flanked by Cury and Schultz, went in to see Deputy Undersecretary Raymond A. Hare. The State Department said after their hour-long huddle that "this whole situation was discussed in general terms" but no instruction was given Powers about going to Moscow.

About 200 Alaskans braved a cold wind to see Eisenhower off. The President reviewed a military honor guard with Lt. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong Jr., commander of the armed forces in Alaska. He shook hands with other military officers.

En route here the President crossed the international date line, which turned Monday into Tuesday. He will get his day back when he returns via Hawaii June 22.

Manila Plans Big Welcome For President

2 Million Expected To Turn Out Despite Inclement Weather

MANILA (AP)—Filipinos were gathering to give President Eisenhower a bright welcome Tuesday on the typhoon-season Asian tour that threatens him with a political storm in Japan.

Police estimated two million or more will line banner-bedecked streets by the time Eisenhower, the first U. S. President to visit the Far East, reaches Manila late.

There was no advance indication of anything to mar a rousing reception here, though the weather had been acting up. Heavy showers Sunday night and Monday reminded Manilans that a wet period is at hand.

President Carlos P. Garcia said he expects Eisenhower's three-day visit to "fortify and uplift the spirit of free nations in this part of the world."

Garcia urged citizens of the Philippines, a former U. S. colony that was given independence in 1946, to welcome him "in the best tradition of Filipino hospitality."

Filipinos are pro-American almost to a man and they needed no urging.

Thousands Pour Into City

They poured in from the provinces by the thousands to this city of two million even before Eisenhower took off from Alaska on the tour taking him to the Philippines, Formosa, Okinawa, Japan and South Korea.

The schedule called for Eisenhower and Garcia to make the 10-mile ride from the airport to Malacanang Palace, the Philippines' sprawling wood and stucco White House, in an open car. It is expected that this drive, between cheering throngs and beneath triumphal arches, will take more than an hour.

Some opposition political forces grumbled that the Eisenhower visit will boost the Filipino President's bid for re-election in stiff campaigning of 1961. Eisenhower's stop here is considered a prestige builder for the Philippines and some of the prestige obviously will rub off on Garcia.

It's a homecoming for Eisenhower. In a way, he is a Manila "home town boy." The 69-year-old chief executive is familiar with the Philippines from Army assignments here.

Manila itself is vastly different from the war-scarred city that Eisenhower saw on his last visit here, as Army chief of staff on an Asian tour in 1946. Ruins abounded then and refugees from the provinces still swelled the normal population of 600,000.

Contrast In Weather

Tall commercial buildings have since risen within the old Spanish walled town that was devastated, along with two-thirds of Manila, in the fierce fighting of early 1945 when American forces drove out the Japanese.

Hibiscus bushes and flame-red fire trees are blooming in this tropical climate—a contrast with the 50-degree weather in Anchorage when Eisenhower left there Monday morning.

About 200 Alaskans braved a cold wind to see Eisenhower off. The President reviewed a military honor guard with Lt. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong Jr., commander of the armed forces in Alaska. He shook hands with other military officers.

En route here the President crossed the international date line, which turned Monday into Tuesday. He will get his day back when he returns via Hawaii June 22.

Herter Tells Of Vast Red Espionage Ring

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was told Monday the Sino-Soviet bloc states maintain an espionage ring made up of some 300,000 trained officers serving in 27 intelligence and security services.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said in a statement submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that no government in history "has placed heavier emphasis on espionage" than the Soviet Union.

His statement, submitted to the Senate by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), the chairman, was offered for consideration in the committee's forthcoming report on its inquiry into the shooting down of the U2 spy plane over the Soviet Union a week prior to the Paris summit meeting. The committee is to meet later this week to consider four days of closed-door testimony.

State Dept. "Irregularities" In Furniture Deal Charged

Sen. Proxmire Names Cabinet Member's Son

Judge Orders Eastern Pilots Back To Duty

MIAMI (UPI)—A federal district judge granted Eastern Airlines a temporary injunction Monday night aimed at halting a wildcat strike by the airlines' pilots. The order of Judge Joseph P. Lieb in effect extended a temporary restraining order he had granted last week. He said he would sign it Tuesday morning. The injunction hearing required nearly eight hours of testimony and arguments by a battery of 12 lawyers. The court postponed until Tuesday a hearing on Eastern's request to cite members of the Air Line Pilots Assn. with contempt for violating the restraining order.

Soft Spots Still In Job Pattern

WASHINGTON (AP)—Employment rose by one million last month to a record for May. At 3,459,000, the number of idle men and women represented 4.9 per cent of the growing labor force.

This was exactly the percentage of a year ago, and not significantly below the April rate of 5 per cent. It meant that 49 out of every thousand members of the labor force were job hunting.

Officials have been hoping for a spring business pickup strong enough to cut the jobless rolls more sharply.

"Capt. Midnight" Jailed After Challenging Police

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Known to small fry TV fans as Captain Midnight, tower of strength and virtue, actor Richard Webb got a new billing from police Monday—Billy the Kid.

Police jailed the 45-year-old actor after a ruckus outside his barricaded house Sunday night. But his wife obtained his freedom by posting $100 bail Monday afternoon.

"I guess I goofed," the actor told police. Webb, 6-feet-2 and 190 pounds, was arrested outside his barricaded home after, police said, he dared four husky cops to a Western-style gun duel with his challenge: "I'm going to draw. I can draw much faster than you, so when you draw do a good job." Police also quoted him as saying: "I'm fed up with women. I'm tired of living. I want you guys to kill me."

French Stress Western Unity On Disarm Plan

GENEVA (AP)—France told the Soviet Union Monday that "Western solidarity will remain firm in all instances" during the East-West disarmament talks. French delegate Jules Moch said he made the statement to dispel any Soviet hope that France might be used as a wedge to disrupt Western unity during negotiations here.

But Moch, in effect, made the first public admission of differences among the Western powers in their reaction to the new Soviet disarmament plan.

"Even if some Western governments felt at certain times closer to certain Soviet concepts or less distant from them than did others. They would not doubt try, among themselves, to get their allies to share their views," Moch told the 10-nation conference.

"But in any case they would never adopt a separate position from that of their allies. It is, in fact, among 10 of us, and all 10—not 6, 7 or 9 against 4, 3 or 1—that as many points of agreement as possible must be found. In all instances, Western solidarity will remain firm."

In his first deep probing of the new Soviet proposal, Moch noted that certain French ideas had been borrowed.

"We are gratified by this," he said. "But we are not so sure that the presentation or the methods of application or the general philosophy of these proposals confirm to ours."

Moch was referring to the first stage of the new Soviet plan, which coupled elimination of means of delivery of nuclear weapons—a French idea—with abolition of all bases on foreign territory and withdrawal of foreign troops—a strictly Soviet idea.

The Western powers contend that combining the two ideas in the first phase of disarmament would leave Western Europe open to superior Soviet ground forces with no effective deterrent.

Webb didn't explain the "fed up" remark. His wife of 11 years, Florence, was not at home. Unlike TV's western heroes, police said, Webb fell for the oldest dodge of all: Before going for his gun, Webb asked an officer as an afterthought: "Where's your hideout, man?" A quick-thinking officer replied: "Right behind you." Webb whirled and the officers colared him. Police confiscated four rifles, three shotguns, 26 pistols and thousands of rounds of ammunition. His mother told police Webb had been drinking. He was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, a felony, but the charge later was reduced to a misdemeanor, disturbing the peace. A municipal court hearing was scheduled for Tuesday morning.

Three children born of the now broken union will continue to carry the name Rossellini, according to Italian law. One of them, Roberto, was born before his parents' proxy wedding on May 24, 1950.

The Rome tribunal ruled that at the time of the proxy ceremony Miss Bergman was still the legal wife of Dr. Peter Lindstrom and that, therefore, her marriage with Rossellini was not valid.

The court's decision, following long and twisting procedure for more than two years, left Miss

Powers' Father Obtains Soviet Visa, Passport

WASHINGTON (AP)—Oliver W. Powers obtained speedy approval Monday from both the United States and Soviet Russia to go to Moscow in his effort to help his son, who is being held for trial as pilot of the downed U2 spy plane.

A Soviet embassy official said Powers was granted a visa to enter Russia which is good for 90 days. At the State Department, Powers obtained a passport within an hour of his application.

Powers set no specific date for his trip in his passport application. He indicated to newsmen at one point that he planned to go in August.

But Sol Cury, a Norton, Va., friepd slated to travel with Powers, and Powers' Washington attorney, Franklin Schultz, both said the timing of the visit still was open.

Powers wants to go to Moscow to help his son. Francis G. Powers, whom the Soviets are holding as a spy for his May 1 flight deep into Russian territory. The U.S. intelligence pilot was captured after his plane came down. The affair set off international repercussions that have not yet ended.

The elder Powers, a 55-year-old cobbler from Pound, Va., showed up at the State Department's passport office early Monday morning with the required application papers all in order. A deputy passport chief, Edward J. Hickey, sped through the paper work and issued the passport less than an hour later.

Then Powers, flanked by Cury and Schultz, went in to see Deputy Undersecretary Raymond A. Hare. The State Department said after their hour-long huddle that "this whole situation was discussed in general terms" but no instruction was given Powers about going to Moscow.

Manila Plans Big Welcome For President

2 Million Expected To Turn Out Despite Inclement Weather

MANILA (AP)—Filipinos were gathering to give President Eisenhower a bright welcome Tuesday on the typhoon-season Asian tour that threatens him with a political storm in Japan.

Police estimated two million or more will line banner-bedecked streets by the time Eisenhower, the first U. S. President to visit the Far East, reaches Manila late.

There was no advance indication of anything to mar a rousing reception here, though the weather had been acting up. Heavy showers Sunday night and Monday reminded Manilans that a wet period is at hand.

President Carlos P. Garcia said he expects Eisenhower's three-day visit to "fortify and uplift the spirit of free nations in this part of the world."

Garcia urged citizens of the Philippines, a former U. S. colony that was given independence in 1946, to welcome him "in the best tradition of Filipino hospitality."

Filipinos are pro-American almost to a man and they needed no urging.

Thousands Pour Into City

They poured in from the provinces by the thousands to this city of two million even before Eisenhower took off from Alaska on the tour taking him to the Philippines, Formosa, Okinawa, Japan and South Korea.

The schedule called for Eisenhower and Garcia to make the 10-mile ride from the airport to Malacanang Palace, the Philippines' sprawling wood and stucco White House, in an open car. It is expected that this drive, between cheering throngs and beneath triumphal arches, will take more than an hour.

Some opposition political forces grumbled that the Eisenhower visit will boost the Filipino President's bid for re-election in stiff campaigning of 1961. Eisenhower's stop here is considered a prestige builder for the Philippines and some of the prestige obviously will rub off on Garcia.

It's a homecoming for Eisenhower. In a way, he is a Manila "home town boy." The 69-year-old chief executive is familiar with the Philippines from Army assignments here.

Manila itself is vastly different from the war-scarred city that Eisenhower saw on his last visit here, as Army chief of staff on an Asian tour in 1946. Ruins abounded then and refugees from the provinces still swelled the normal population of 600,000.

Contrast In Weather

Tall commercial buildings have since risen within the old Spanish walled town that was devastated, along with two-thirds of Manila, in the fierce fighting of early 1945 when American forces drove out the Japanese.

Hibiscus bushes and flame-red fire trees are blooming in this tropical climate—a contrast with the 50-degree weather in Anchorage when Eisenhower left there Monday morning.

About 200 Alaskans braved a cold wind to see Eisenhower off. The President reviewed a military honor guard with Lt. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong Jr., commander of the armed forces in Alaska. He went down a receiving line and shook hands with other military officers.

En route here the President crossed the international date line, which turned Monday into Tuesday. He will get his day back when he returns via Hawaii June 22.

Herter Tells Of Vast Red Espionage Ring

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was told Monday the Sino-Soviet bloc states maintain an espionage ring made up of some 300,000 trained officers serving in 27 intelligence and security services.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said in a statement submitted to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that no government in history "has placed heavier emphasis on espionage" than the Soviet Union.

His statement, submitted to the Senate by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), the chairman, was offered for consideration in the committee's forthcoming report on its inquiry into the shooting down of the U2 spy plane over the Soviet Union a week prior to the Paris summit meeting. The committee is to meet later this week to consider four days of closed-door testimony.

Two Flee Patuxent; New Probe Slated

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two more inmates have escaped from the Patuxent Institution at Jessups, Md., and the president of the State Senate announced Monday that the Legislative Council will look into the prison's worthwhileness. Sen. George W. Della (D-6th Balto) said he would name a committee to investigate the need for Patuxent when the Legislative Council meets July 6.

Della noted that Enos Stockbridge, former chairman of the State Board of Correction, had suggested the Legislature find out whether the institution for defective delinquents is doing its assigned job.

The latest escapees bring the number at-large to five. They fled at various times since May 25 and Monday. A spokesman at Patuxent said the trustees who left their jobs on a farming project Monday were Emory L. Andrews, 54, of Denton, and Morris Hovener, 24, of Alexandria, Va.

Andrews was serving time for breaking and entering and Hovener, for armed robbery.

Last year a Legislative Council committee headed by Sen. Harry Hughes (D-Caroline) investigated Patuxent but limited itself to certain procedures carried on at the Howard County institution.

The latest squabble over the institution labeled a "noble experiment" when it was opened 5 years ago arose when the Board of Correction questioned overtime pay for guards.

Although Patuxent is independent in administration, its budget is subject to jurisdiction by the Board of Correction.

"The study committee has to determine what's wrong with the institution and whether or not the defects can be corrected," Sen. Della said in announcing the inquiry which also had been urged by Sen. Aaron Baer (D-Balto 5th). "If the situation can't be corrected, it might be better to do away with Patuxent."

Farm Act Again Ruled Invalid

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals has ruled again that Maryland's 1951 Farm Assessment Act is unconstitutional.

It rejected Monday new arguments brought by the attorney general in an effort to permit lower assessment of farm land in urban areas than that used for development purposes.

The high court had originally held the law invalid, as discriminatory and not based on public policy, in an opinion Jan. 19. In February it granted a request for reargument of the case, recalled the opinions and heard further arguments March 17.

Meanwhile, the 1960 Legislature passed a proposed constitutional amendment which will go before the voters this fall to legalize the practice.

Monday's opinion held that Article 15 of the State Constitution requires uniform classification of land within a taxing district and that the Legislature cannot disturb this uniformity through exemptions.

The State Tax Commission had argued that the Farm Assessments Act was valid as a reasonable partial exemption from taxation and was sound public policy to protect farmers in suburban areas from being forced off the land by high assessments and high taxes based on such assessments.

It contended that since the General Assembly has authority to make full exemptions from taxation it also has power to grant partial exemptions.

Ike Is Rebuffed As House Unit Cuts Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ignoring a last-minute plea by President Eisenhower, the House Appropriations Committee Monday cut 790½ million dollars from his request for new funds for the mutual security program.

In recommending $3,384,500,000 to finance the foreign aid program for the year starting July 1, the committee imposed cuts that the President had said "cannot but jeopardize our own security and the defense of the free world."

Eisenhower's views were set forth in telegrams he sent over the weekend to House fiscal leaders of both political parties after word leaked out that the committee was considering the cuts.

Two attempts were made at Monday's committee session to restore part of the 400 million cut from direct military assistance and some of the 75 million chopped from the defense support allotment.

Rep. John Taber (R-NY), senior minority committeeman, tried to put back 200 million into the military assistance fund and lost by vote of 27-16.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford (R-Mich) failed by a vote of 26-16 to restore 50 million to the defense support allotment.

It was the prospective slashing of those two funds that caused the President to complain most vigorously. The cuts were recommended by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La) who has repeatedly protested what he described as waste in the aid program.

The House itself will consider the committee's action next Thursday, but there seemed little likelihood that it would make any substantial changes.

Civil War Centennial Secretary Appointed

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—The Maryland Civil War Centennial Commission named an executive secretary Monday and announced that a full-time office would be opened in Hagerstown on July 1.

Ellsworth R. Roulette, commission chairman, said Park W. T. Loy would serve as executive secretary, starting July 1. Loy, a retired businessman, was the prime mover in the 1937 pageantry marking the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Antietam.

The centennial observance will run from 1961 to 1965, with special ceremonies in September 1962 at the Antietam battlefield near here.

Ex-Teacher Sues School Officials

BALTIMORE (AP)—A former teacher has filed suit in Federal Court for $225,000 in damages against 3 officials of Brooks High School in Prince Frederick.

Kenneth A. Carter, 26, of 135 Rhode Island Ave. N.E., Washington, claims he was slandered by the officials and forced to resign last January.

He named as defendants Horace Greeley Funn, principal; Robert Jeffries, assistant principal, and Fletcher Ward Jr., guidance counselor.

Blasts Level Factory

POGGIBONSI, Italy (AP)—Containers of gas blew up Monday at a glass works here, leveling the factory and injuring 30 workmen.

Power Mowers And 'Blue Laws'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimoreans may cut their lawns on Sunday with a power mower if it's quiet and they don't have to push it much.

That was the gist of a two-page opinion by the Attorney General's office.

Magistrate Milton Saul had asked the state legal department if the use of power mowers and the labor attached violated the Sunday "blue laws."

The attorney general's reply on the question of disturbing the peace opined a power mower wouldn't as long as it didn't make "loud and unseemly noises."

In any event, the opinion said a magistrate would have to determine the facts "in each particular case." In other words, Magistrate Saul was told he would have to decide if the power motor was noisy and the pusher pushed too hard to constitute bodily labor.

Sailor, 19, Shot After Aid Call

JESSUPS (AP)—A 19-year-old sailor stationed at Anacostia in Washington was shot 5 times in the 30 seconds between a call for police help and its arrival Monday morning.

Richard C. Phillips, radioman third class who lived in Parkville, was in critical condition after an operation at Fort Meade hospital.

Police held for questioning a 26-year-old Highlandtown man picked up at the scene off the Baltimore-Washington expressway. Phillips said he did not know the other man.

The sailor told police he pulled his car off the expressway to take a nap. He was awakened by a pounding on the car window.

Phillips told police he got out of the car and took a lead pipe away from a man. He then called state police from a roadside telephone and told them he would hold the man until their arrival.

Trooper J. O. Eccleston arrived within half a minute. When he arrived, Phillips was on the ground with five bullet wounds. The other man was standing by along with his car.

Mystery Illness Strikes Swimmers

DEAL, Md. (AP)—Wicomico County health authorities Monday were investigating the reason why three swimmers were mysteriously stricken.

Donald B. Disharoon, 10, of Ashton, Md., was in fair condition at Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury after he was taken ill and remained unconscious about two hours Sunday.

Two women, Mildred D. Sheets, 42, of Sandy Spring, Md., and Thelma L. Myers, 52, of Greensboro, N.C., became dizzy and nauseated while swimming in the same area of Tangier Sound off Deal Island. They were treated and released.

Bank Employee Faces Embezzlement Charge

SALISBURY (AP)—Mrs. Anna Lee Hughes, 26, was arrested Sunday on a charge of embezzling $12,000 from the Hebron Savings Bank where she was a bookkeeper.

The warrant states she took the money over a four-year period. Mrs. Hughes was released on $5,000 bail.

The bank said the shortage is covered by insurance.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

MANY wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug counter.

The WSCS of Fairview Avenue Methodist Church decided to have a strawberry festival June 23. The committee consists of Mrs. John Groves, Mrs. Harold Hawkins, Mrs. Douglas Dawson and Mrs. Ralph Wilson.

Mrs. Groves conducted the meeting in the church basement. A thank you note was read from Sandra Little for the Bible and graduation dinner in April. It was announced that next month each member is to wear a funny hat.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Robert Webster. It opened with the singing of "The Morning Light Is Breaking" and "Oh Master Let Me Walk with Thee," and the Scripture reading. The guest speaker was Mrs. Ricarda Barbero, who gave a synopsis of the book, "The Way in Africa." Mrs. Violet Bender gave the benediction.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mabel Watkins and Mrs. Wilson. Others present were Mrs. Amelia Miller, Mrs. Minola Baker, Mrs. Gladys Baker, Mrs.

Filler, Jr., Rutledge, Pa.; Benton Filler, Levittown, Pa.; Edward Filler, Thomas, W.Va.; Mrs. Mary Moreland, Hagerstown, and Mrs. Alpha Barb, LaVale.

The former Miss Annabell Wood, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Wood, Gary, W. Va., became the bride of Mr. Filler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher S. Filler, Parsons, W.Va., June 9, 1910. The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the home of the bride, with Rev. A. H. Clark officiating. The parents of six children, Mr. and Mrs. Filler have 12 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Filler came to Cumberland in 1918, from Staten Island, where he was working for the Aetna Explosive Company. He became employed by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, where he worked for 27 years, retiring in 1947. Mr. Filler works part time keeping books for Lloyd H. Buchanan, wholesale lumber dealer.

A golden color scheme was carried out in the decorations with flowers and an anniversary cake adorned with yellow roses. Forty three relatives attended the dinner and an additional 35, the open house.

Vallie Welker, Mrs. Bertha Ash, Mrs. Matilda McElfish and Mrs. Lucy Pallus.

Faculty Honors Members

The Columbia Street School faculty and staff entertained with a dinner at Anton's on Big Savage, and honored three members who are retiring. Spring flowers were used in the decorations.

Honor guests were William Price, who will enter the ministry; Mrs. James Pierce, music teacher, and Mrs. Margaret Faulk, speech therapist, who has taken a position in Prince George's county. On behalf of the faculty and staff, each was presented a gift by Miss Catherine Thomas, principal.

The committee in charge of arrangements consisted of Mrs. Josephine Frase, Mrs. Sue Merritt and Mrs. Rosemarie Ambrose. Others attending were Mrs. Roma Preman, Mrs. Betty Stafford, Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, Mrs. Margaret Bittner, Mrs. William Price, Mr. and Mrs. William Pugh, Dale Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Stagers.

PYW Club Selects Delegate

Reports were given and a Short Course delegate chosen at the meeting of the Progressive Young Women's Club, held at the home of Mrs. Dean Broadwater, McCullen Highway, Mrs. Dale Kelley presided. Mrs. Hayden Phillips read the Homemakers Collect. The origin of the hymn, "This Is My Father's World," was given by Mrs. H. J. Barton, who also led in group singing. Mrs. William Suder conducted roll call, which was answered by each telling what kind of music she liked best and why.

A report on the recent seminar, "Music and Human Behavior," was given by Mrs. Edward Shaffer, family life chairman. Mrs. John Barton, food and nutrition chairman, reported on a demonstration of the making and proper serving of open-face party sandwiches given by the Handy Dandy 4-H Club. Mrs. Harold Bishop, Sr., was chosen delegate to College Park, June 20-25.

It was announced that the July 1 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dean Evans, McCullen Highway. The meeting closed with the group singing, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Others present were Mrs. James Armstrong, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Carlton Helmick, Mrs. Stanley Miller and Mrs. K. O. Nelson.

The final class in the foods demonstration was D, general. Individual demonstrations were Joan Miltenberger, Cumberland, white; Marvel Major, Lonaconing, blue; Jane Evans, Lonaconing, blue and championship; Sandra Grubb, Flintstone, red; Mary Virginia Ewing, Frostburg, red. Class D, general foods team, Joyce Simpson, Joyce DuRocher, Baltimore Pike, received a red ribbon; Catherine Shipway, Mary Baker, Flintstone, red; Betty Twigg, Betty Yonker, Flintstone, white; Nancy Robinette and Vicki Hamons, blue and championship.

Judges were Mrs. Joseph Steger and Mrs. Ruthella Fey.

Today demonstrations will be in home furnishing, home management, clothing, family life, electric, and the general area in the morning. The cherry pie contests will be held in the afternoon.

The Women's Missionary Society of Grace Baptist Church formulated plans for a prayer service at the county jail, during the business session conducted by Mrs. James Kirkpatrick.

Following the singing of "He Leadeth Me," reports of officers were given. It was announced that a cash donation had been given to the Vacation Bible School and that 10 missionary books had been read. The Bethany Bible Class of the Sunday school will send one member of the Girls Auxiliary to the WMS summer Camp Wo-Me-To, during July or August.

The regular work day has been postponed one week, due to Vacation Bible School. It will be held June 30th and all women are urged to be present.

The program of the evening was under the leadership of Mrs. Thomas L. Rudd, her topic being "Brazil," and using the theme "Unto the Children's Children." The stage was set as though those taking part were at a circle meeting, reading letters from their friends in Brazil who were attending the Baptist World Alliance. Assisting Mrs. Rudd were Mrs. Kirkpatrick, who had the devotional, Mrs. James Straw, Mrs. Randolph Keefe, Mrs. John Effland and Miss Mary Robb. The program ended with a choral reading of hymns and the benediction.

Annapolis mother reports telephone saves $22⁵⁴ and 32 hours in two weeks...prevents destruction of neighbor's wooded land

Mrs. Whitmore talks to her husband who called to ask if she needs anything from town.

We recently asked Mrs. John Whitmore to keep a two-week "diary" of her family's telephone calls—estimating the amount of time, money and traveling, if any, each call saved.

Mrs. Whitmore has a teen-age daughter, Betsy; is active in her community PTA and serves as president of a 160-member women's club, the Severn Town Club, in Annapolis.

She found that the telephone saved 32 valuable hours and $22.54 in expense, including the cost and trouble of 269 miles they did not have to travel.

But Mrs. Whitmore says, "While the time and money our telephone saves are important, the job it does is often more important. For instance, one call was to a neighbor across the lake—to tell him we could see what looked like a fire in his woods. It was a fire—and required three companies to bring it under control. How can one estimate savings on that item?"

If you should ever keep a telephone diary, we think you, too, would find that your telephone pays for itself many times over—not only in money it saves but in pleasure and usefulness.

West Virginia Towns Voting

By United Press International

Municipal elections will be held Tuesday in Philippi, Mullens, Martinsburg, Wellsburg and Weirton.

Martinsburg voters will elect seven council members and a mayor. In Mullens, voters will elect a mayor and two council members and two amendments to the city charter.

One amendment would increase the council from two to four commissioners and the other would extend the term of office from two to four years.

The lowered electrical potential of the atmosphere resulting from atomic explosions does not affect weather conditions, it was reported at a recent international meteorological meeting.

company's West Virginia's annual gas bill amounts to approximately $300,000, and if there are further increases it is possible that the company may find it economically advisable to discontinue gas and return to coal, the startment warned.

It is possible, the attorneys said, that other industrial gas users may do the same. Such actions, they related, would result in decreases in the gas firm's gross revenue and could seriously injure the company by pricing its product out of the market.

Another point brought out was that in addition to having an effect on existing industries, continuous gas rate increases certainly militates strongly against the attraction of new firms.

Since the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company began construction of its Works 7 there have been three gas rate increases, and the recent one, the fourth, if granted, will cost the company approximately $50,000 a year.

"It seems obvious that this type of procedure will, to say the least, not encourage any other industries which might use gas to locate in Allegany or Garrett counties, and it is also obvious that reasonable gas rates, with some degree of stability would encourage gas-using industries to locate in this area," Park, Deer Park and Friends' Walsh and Gunter declared.

Other objections, they said, have been expressed by the county commissioners of both counties, the Mayors and City Councils of Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Barton, West-ernport, Midland, Luke, Oakland, Loch Lynn Heights, Mt. Lake the gas company's management the whole situation should be carefully examined with relation to the industrial well being of this section.

West Virginia Towns Voting

By United Press International
Municipal elections will be held Tuesday in Philippi, Mullens, Martinsburg, Wellsburg and Weirton.

Martinsburg voters will elect seven council members and a mayor. In Mullens, voters will elect a new city government and two amendments to the city charter.

One amendment would increase the council from two to four commissioners and the other would extend the term of office from two to four years.

The Flag As A Symbol Of Hope

On Flag Day all Americans should pay homage to the flag of the United States — in their thoughts if not in some formal observance. The flag displayed on the flagstaffs of public buildings or carried before marching men in a parade or standing on a platform is more than bits of cloth sewn together, more than a design of shapes and colors. It can be of the richest silk or the cheapest printed cotton and it still demands homage as a symbol, standing for things past and things to come and things eternal. We think of things past when we speak of the flag as Old Glory, for in it we see our history. Not all history is glorious, and we do well to remember our national sins and shortcomings, but we are entitled to take pride in the American story. Men aspired, men sacrificed for their aspirations, men achieved. We pay tribute to them when we pay our respects to the flag. If we speak of the flag as the Stars and Stripes we can place the present and the future, in a sense, beside the past. The states that formed the original association, the states that now make up the Union — we see them in the tossing colors forever joined together. On Flag Day we recall the hopes of our forefathers and examine our own hopes and ideals. We see the American flag as a symbol of the hope of mankind.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The CIA

President Harry Truman, in an off-the-cuff interview, took the position that he abhors spying and would have nothing to do with it. It said that he had an airplane that could go to enormous heights and that he had consulted Secretary of State Dean Acheson and that between them they agreed not to use the high-flying plane for spying. The former President said nothing about having a camera to take the kind of pictures a modern camera can take from a high-flying plane or from a satellite. President Truman's memory must be hazy on this subject because he was President when the CIA was organized and the CIA exists for the purpose of spying (gathering intelligence), evaluating the intelligence, correlating it. It also engages in counter-espionage. So secret are the operations of the CIA that its total budget is hidden even from the eyes of Congress. The United States has, of course, always had intelligence-gathering agencies. The State Department received reports from ambassadors, ministers and consuls. The Army had its G-2 which watched all countries, particularly objective enemies. Navy Intelligence was always regarded as a very able arm of the Government. We did not go in for the type of espionage that Czarist Russia had in the Okhrana or that the British produced in various branches of government until World War II when General Wild Bill Donovan created the OSS.

The OSS was the first attempt in the United States to establish a professional espionage corps. General Donovan started from scratch, recruiting various personalities to do work for which none of them were particularly trained. Some of them seemed to be suitable; others were worthless for this work and had to be weeded out. Some were Communists and were undoubtedly Russian plants. Nevertheless, General Donovan worked on his own, took little advice from other agencies, particularly from the FBI which he ignored altogether.

When the war was over, the OSS continued to function but was falling apart. In 1947, when Harry Truman was President, the CIA was established by Act of Congress to take the place of the OSS and Admiral Roscoe Hillekoetter, a brilliant naval officer, was appointed to head it. Hillekoetter did the organization work but returned to the Navy and General Walter Bedell Smith took over. Smith was replaced by Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, a lawyer and experienced in intelligence work, particularly in Germany. Allen Dulles is presently the Director of the CIA.

There had to be a division of functions between the CIA and the FBI which also was engaged in overseas intelligence. It was eventually worked out that the FBI is in charge of investigations in the United States while the CIA is in charge outside of the United States. There must be areas where their programs overlap but there have been no overt conflicts between the two agencies.

President Truman therefore cannot say that he disapproves of spying because it was in his Administration that our most important spying organization was established by an Act of Congress which he signed. The year, to repeat, was 1947.

In this connection, it must be noted that the record will show that the U-2 which the Russians brought down was operated neither by the Air Force nor the CIA. It was operated by a private company for which the pilot, Francis Gary Powers, worked. It is not unusual for espionage organizations to contract with outside firms to do particular jobs. In fact, there are some such groups that rent themselves out for hire and some are double-agents working for both sides. They are paid by both sides and serve a special purpose. Usually such contracting groups are abandoned when they become problems. A real professional might commit suicide if caught, but he will surely destroy all documents. When he neither destroys documents nor himself, his conduct becomes beclouded by suspicion.

Espionage is now a profession. Every nation does it and only the cleverest and the most competent persons are used for it. A dope or a blabber-mouth cannot be used for anything at all. A homosexual is a menace because he is subject to blackmail. Very often prostitutes and such women are employed because they are useful. The profession is not the most moral. As long as there is war, there will be espionage.

'Maybe WE Ought To Draft Him'

Rockefeller Both Helps And Hurts Nixon

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON With most of the early returns in, it is now clear that Gov. Rockefeller has both helped and hurt Vice President Nixon by coming into the open against him. The help to Nixon is short-run. The hurt is long-run, which makes it no less serious.

Before examining how this can be, it is well to look into the origin of the Rockefeller statement that started the storm. The question of how Gov. Rockefeller came to say what he said last week in the way he did and when he did, is still being argued by every politician in both parties. The real answer to the question explains how one and the same statement can have been both helpful and hurtful to the Nixon cause.

In brief, then, the large Rockefeller staff has been divided into two camps, and the Governor himself has been assailed with conflicting advice, for many months past. The point at issue was whether to "speak out" (the phrase used in the hidden argument) or not to "speak out."

In other words, the men around Rockefeller have been arguing about whether the Governor should air his real opinions of the Eisenhower administration's policies. He has long regarded the Administration's foreign and defense policies as hopelessly unimaginative and dangerously weak. In the same way, he has always considered the Administration's social and economic policies as too narrow and backward-looking.

Every practical political consideration weighed against open expression of these opinions. Most of the Rockefeller staff and virtually all the New York Republican leaders were therefore opposed to "speaking out." But the Governor himself wanted to voice his opinions, precisely because they are deeply, even emotionally held opinions.

And the Rockefeller public relations advisor, Emmet Hughes, who holds the same opinions with equal or greater fervor, also thought the Governor should say what was on his mind.

In the pre-summit period, the advocates of silence had a point that held the precarious debating balance true. It was the point that the Governor should not attack the Administration in the rear, so to say, when the President was just about to embark on negotiations with the Soviets at the highest level.

After the explosion at the summit, however, this point lost all force. The Governor then issued a short comment which in reality foreshadowed the major declaration he made after his breakfast with President Eisenhower. The intervening time period was largely occupied by further staff debate about the nature and the frankness of the planned major declaration. The question, now, was whether to "speak out" with complete truthfulness. Rockefeller himself finally decided to mince no words; and so the bombshell was thrown.

Thus the timing and character of the Rockefeller statements are revealed as the results, primarily, of two parallel conflicts. One was the staff conflict already described. The other was the conflict, in the Governor's own mind,

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CUBA—The international crisis brought on by the failure of the Paris Summit meeting has served to clear the thinking in Washington on a number of problems.

Fidel Castro's revolution in Cuba occurred at a time when world leaders were attempting to ease international tensions. It is not possible, therefore, to determine from Castro's acts just how far he had gone into the Communist camp, although his regime was suspect from the start.

However, most diplomats in Washington, including those in our own State Department, have now abandoned any lingering hopes they had concerning the Communist leanings of Castro and his government.

Since the Paris collapse, Cuba's government-run or controlled newspapers have unceasingly attacked President Eisenhower and the United States as "war mongers" and threats to world peace. Cartoons and editorials have given unstinting support to the position of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Washington has concluded that Cuba is now Communist in all but name and is making plans to act on these new convictions. This does not mean that any immediate reprisals are in prospect. However, it does mean a readiness to pursue a harder line against Castro, which could eventually lead to Cuba's ostracism and condemnation by the other nations of the Western Hemisphere.

Washington is still convinced that the majority of Cuban citizens do not support Communism and that they will turn away from Castro when his leftist leanings become apparent to them.

Malaria Still Common In Many Parts Of Globe

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

We have known how to treat malaria since the 17th Century, when the beneficial effects of the bark of the Cinchona tree were discovered. Quinine served the world well for hundreds of years and was one of our most highly respected drugs until World War II produced better remedies. Chloroquine, amodiaquin, and chloroguanide are the top products today.

"It also has been known since the turn of the century that malaria is caused by a parasite carried by the Anopheles mosquito.

Since then, experts in this field have concentrated on eradicating malaria from the face of the globe.

The World Health Organization over the last 20 years has eradicated the disease from areas inhabited by 46 million persons. But this agency reports "The disease still is present in countries and territories where it threatens the lives of 83 million persons."

Many of these areas have eradication programs in process. The people in malaria ridden regions must get a tremendous lift from realizing that life can be enjoyed without the constant fear of this malady.

Malaria is disabling. The infected person goes through several stages of the disease. Following a bite from an infected mosquito, the parasites settle in certain tissues. Then they enter the blood cells and multiply. During this period there is quick fatigue and aching of the bones, particularly in the back and neck.

The chill develops when the progeny of the parasites located in each red cell ruptures into the blood stream. This cold stage lasts 45 minutes and the victim shivers and shakes, and the skin becomes cold and clammy. This is followed by the hot stage with fever up to 105 degrees F., lasting another 45 minutes.

Then comes the sweating stage in which the individual spends several hours lying quietly — exhausted and drenched in perspiration. The chills come every third or fourth day, or more often when there is a mixed infection. Who can work in the circumstances?

TOMORROW: Work fast with poison ivy.

Ike's Tour Of Duty In Philippines Was Turning Point In His Career

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There's unremembered drama behind the arrival of Dwight D. Eisenhower in Manila. He's returning to a country which probably marked a bigger turning point in his life than any event since he persuaded Sen. Joseph Bristow, Kansas Republican, to appoint him to West Point, even though young Eisenhower was then a Democrat.

The little-remembered story is that Lt. Col. Eisenhower went to the Philippines as a member of General MacArthur's staff in the late 1930s to help set up a defense program for the islands. He differed with MacArthur over these defenses, and told Philipinos frankly that they wouldn't work.

MacArthur got sore, sent Eisenhower back to the states. This was about two years before Pearl Harbor. Had he not been back probably he would not have come to the attention of Gen. George Marshall, who picked him to command the greatest military expedition in history.

Note — MacArthur's plan for defending the Philippines, which Ike opposed, was: 1. To keep the Japanese from landing with the new Philippine army; 2. Fall back if necessary on Bataan and Corregidor. Ike was right; it didn't work.

Ike's old stamping grounds — Here are some of the things the President will note on this, his second trip to Manila: A thriving, Americanized city with twice the population it had when he was there; English-language newspapers, more schools and universities than any place in the Orient — night schools and technical schools sprouting up everywhere alongside Spanish universities founded shortly after Columbus discovered America — He will find the friendliest pro-American nation in the Far East, a nation which was taught democracy by Americans and takes great pride in that democracy; where they don't have to urge people to vote, they fight for the right to vote. . . . In President Carlos Garcia, Ike will find a kindly friend who knows the United States well, still remembers an occasion in the National Press Club in Washington when Harry Truman, then Vice President, played the piano with Lauren Bacall sitting, legs crossed, on top. . . . Ike will also meet the most dynamic mayor in the Far East, Arsenio H. Lacson, sometimes called the LaGuardia of the Orient, because of his crusading campaign to remove slums, build schools, and better the city of Manila. . . . He will also meet Teddy Valencia, the unpredictable columnist who lampoons the politicians, pries into government, and casually drops in on President Garcia after taking the hide off him editorially as if nothing had happened. Valencia illustrates Manila's true freedom of the press. . . . Then there is Vice President Diosdado Macapagal, who belongs to the opposition, yet sits in the President's National Council even while, opposing him. In most other oriental countries he would be locked up.

Scars of war — Eisenhower will also see the remnants of war, remnants of deep bitterness. Still unreconstructed is part of downtown Manila, which suffered punishment only comparable to Berlin — punishment necessarily inflicted by MacArthur's own troops when they retook the city. . . . There are also landmarks of great suffering, one dungeon deep in the wall of the old Spanish fortress, where 800 Filipinos were jam-packed so close together they could hardly lie down, where many died of suffocation. . . . The anti-Japanese bitterness has eased somewhat now, and many Filipinos fly to Tokyo in the same way Texans fly to New York to take in a Broadway show. But there's still resentment. And when Premier Kishi asked Mayor Lacson whether he learned any Japanese during the wartime occupation of the Philippines, Lacson replied: "I was too busy shooting Japs to learn the language."

Teeming, topsy-turvy Philip-pines — In Manila Ike will find the only housing development in the world for newspapermen. It has 780 units and its hard-to-get space is allocated by the press club. . . . Most efficient transportation in Manila is by means of wartime jeeps, rebuilt into buses. They're a product of American surplus, Filipino ingenuity, and American gasoline. . . . American gasoline service stations dot the highways around Manila every few blocks. There are curb-service restaurants and suburban branch stores exactly the same way department stores have migrated to the suburbs of big American cities. . . . The Philippines are the third largest English-speaking country in the world, ranking next after the United States and the United Kingdom. . . . Manila's police chief is efficient Tulesforo Teno-rio, who worked his way up from patrolman, graduated from the FBI police school and whose shy, quiet manner belies his tough courage. Once a Manila policeman ran amuck with a revolver in his hand, threatening to shoot up the police force. No one dared disarm him. But Teno-rio went up to him, held out his hand. The cop said, "Here it is, chief," and surrendered the revolver. . . . Filipinos supply the orchestras for all of south-east Asia, ranging from Singapore to Tokyo. They also supply the best cooks. . . . When President Garcia was ill last winter, Vice President Macapagal used to call up newsmen Valencia and ask him how sick Garcia was. "Not yet, not yet," replied Valencia. "You won't be President yet."

The Refugees

By Leslie Gould

Judging by the squalid living conditions of the refugees in Hong Kong, the situation must be terrible in Red China.

About a million and a half — maybe more — of Hong Kong's presently 3 1/4 to 3 1/2 million are refugees from the Far East's Communist utopia.

They slip across the border at the rate of 75,000 to 100,000 a year. They come every way — on foot, swimming or sneaking in by boat, usually under the deck of a stinking junk.

You have to see the living conditions under which these refugees live to believe it. It's appalling — to put it mildly.

Some have no shelter. They live on the street. Cook their meals and sleep there. Home for others may be a roof. Others a small dirty boat in Hong Kong harbor. Or a shanty, into which more than one family is crowded.

There are new housing provided by the Crown Colony, but this will never keep up with the stream. While this housing looks fine from the outside, inside there may be three, four or even five families crowded into one room.

Sanitary conditions are almost nil — too often a bucket. The fastastic "living" is in the sampan cities — where families live, raise children and die on the water.

The refugees are a source of the cheap labor which is a threat to the American textile industry.

dustry. From them are recruited some of the dressmakers and tailors, who will turn out a garment or suit overnight. The same for the shoemaker. Pay may be as low as 10 cents (American) an hour.

The cost of making a fine dress or a suit runs around $15, plus material. Now, efforts are being turned to producing ready made clothes for export.

The refugees do not seem unhappy with their lot, nor is any noticeable movement back to Red China. They would rather live in Hong Kong's squalor and be free to take any job than live under Mao Tse-tung.

While the Crown Colony in the last few years has been endeavoring to improve conditions, the main help is from Americans — and that chiefly the charity of religious organizations.

Surprising under these conditions, there isn't more begging — as there is in the Near and Middle East. However, the wise traveler keeps his money and traveler's checks in a place safe from pickpockets.

As well as being a refuge for Red Chinese, Hong Kong is also the world's center for dope and gold traffic.

Around the corner from the squalor will be found the palatial homes of the rich. There is a great deal of wealth in Hong Kong, as there is a great deal of poverty.

Milwaukee Hands San Francisco 12 To 5 Trouncing

Burdette Is Victor After Stormy First

Yields Four Runs But Settles Down, Posts 6th Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Shortstop Johnny Logan, who had driven in only seven runs all year, pounded five across Monday on a double and a triple to lead the Milwaukee Braves to a 12-5 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

With the win, Milwaukee split the series with the Giants at two games each.

Lew Wins Sixth

Lew Burdette, rapped for four runs in the first inning and on the verge of being knocked out of the box, settled down and was credited with his sixth victory against two losses.

Home runs by Orlando Cepeda and Eddie Bressoud accounted for four of the five San Francisco runs.

The Giants started off with a four-run blast in the opening frame. Andre Rodgers singled and Willie Kirkland walked. With two down, the right-handed hitting Cepeda smashed a homer over the rightfield fence. Willie McCovey followed with a single and scored on Bob Schmidt's double.

But the Braves came right back with four in the second inning and three in the third. They drove starter Jack Sanford to cover and continued the slugging assault on his successor.

With one away, Sanford hit Joe Adcock. Wes Covington singled. Del Crandall walked and Logan drove two men across with a double. Burdette drew a walk and Sanford was lifted in favor of George Maranda. Crandall scored on an infield out and Logan came in on the error.

Logan Cleans Bases

In the third, Logan cleaned the bases with a triple after they were loaded on Ed Matthews' single, a walk to Hank Aaron and Adcock's single. Bressoud hit his bases-empty homer for the Giants in the fourth.

The Braves shelled reliever Billy Loes for five runs on seven hits in the ninth. Features were triples by Bill Bruton and Matthews.

Matches also will be played Wednesday and Thursday and the finals in the four divisions will be staged on Friday.

Pepsi Cola Company trophies will go to the winners in each division while cans of tennis balls will be presented to the runners-up.

Winners and runners-up on the boys senior and junior divisions will qualify for the state tournament July 2-3 at Salisbury. The national finals will be held in Midland, Texas.

Athletics, Cards, Yanks Win Dapper Dan Loop Openers

Manager Bob Ziller's Athletics celebrated the opening of the season in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by beating the Indians yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 5-3.

Eddie "Lefty" Leasure, of the A's, and Sellers of the Indians, yielded five hits each. Leasure struck out nine.

Blair Norris homered and singled. Terry Ashby smashed a two-run double and Tommy Hedrick rapped a triple for the victors. Sellers hit a round-tripper and Morrissey clouted a pair of two-baggers for the Tribe.

In Dapper Division openers, the Cardinals trimmed the Pirates at Post Field, 10-2, and the Yankees downed the Red Sox at Penn Avenue Field, 7-3.

Kenny Green pitched a two-hitter for the Cards and whiffed five. He also banged a homer, double and single. Dick Chaney smacked a pair of doubles and a single and "Butch" Fuller and Billy Wharton each clouted three-baggers.

Delbrugge and Caporale obtained the Pirates' only safeties. The Yankees scored five runs in the 4th and 6th frames to overcome the Red Sox.

Kenny Wright worked on the firing line for the Yankees, yielding only four hits and fanned eight. Luck of the Yankees homered and singled while Elliott turned in a sparkling catch of a line drive in centerfield. Jeff McNeil of the Red Sox obtained two of his team's four hits.

Manager Ronnie Cage's Outdoor Club tossers, who are playing their first season in the Hot Stove League, crashed the win column for the first time yesterday when they knocked off the Rotary Club by the score of 2-1 at Mason Road Field.

A home run by Terry Lease in the first inning gave the Rotarians a 1-0 lead and the score remained like that until the bottom of the 7th when the O.D.C. scored the winning and tying runs on Darrel Merkel's single, Jimmy Mertens, three-base belt, and Bobby Brady's squeeze play single.

Denny Smith Winner

Denny Smith went the route for the Outdoor Club to earn the decision over Ronnie Isner in a neat slab duel. Smith yielded six hits, including a double and single by John Roy, fanned six and failed to issue a pass. Isner gave up five safeties, struck out five and walked one. Brady accounted for two of the winning team's five blows.

At Penn Avenue Field last night, the Jaycees moved into the 500 class with a 4-4 record by beating the B.P.O. Elks, 3-2.

Mike Adams limited the Elks to two hits, one a circuit wallop by Pat Chorpennig, and fired the third strike past 13 batsmen.

Rice and Price, Elks' hurlers, gave up only four hits, and fanned eight between them.

Squeezed By Scaletta

Johnny Scaletta helped squeeze across all of the Jaycees runs. Two singles and a passed ball, Scaletta's squeeze bunt and a wild throw produced what proved to be the deciding tallies in the 5th. Johnny also bunted over the Jaycees first tally in the opening frame.

Ben Hogan's Record 276 May Fall In U.S. Open

Set 12 Years Ago; Lack Of Rough May Aid In New Mark

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

DENVER (UPI) — Ben Hogan agreed with disappointed U. S. Golf Assn. officials Monday that due to a lack of rough "The Hawk's" 12-year old scoring record might be broken in this week's U.S. Open championship.

Joe Dey, executive secretary of the USGA, said that "the rough is much less than the prescribed four-inch height, but, of course, there isn't anything we can do about it."

He said that due to this lack of "trouble" he considered it very likely that someone in the field might surpass the 276 total with which Hogan shattered all records in his 1948 triumph at California's Riviera Country Club.

"It will could be," said Hogan, who will be seeking his record fifth Open triumph in this event, currently being in a three-way tie along with ancient Willie Anderson and the immortal Bobby Jones.

"In the first place," Hogan said as he prepared to tee off on a practice round in ideal weather conditions, "the course is in perfect condition. The fairways are wider by 15 to 20 yards than any course on which I have ever played in the Open."

"The rough is not up to standards at all and I am quite certain that it will take a very low score to win," he said.

This was debated by most of his fellow professionals as they went out for practice rounds on this par-35-36-71 course where the 7,004 yards are shortened considerably by the mile-high altitude. Tee shots travel some 25 to 50 yards longer than usual because of the lighter atmosphere.

Hogan's rivals, all conceding him a great chance to win for a record fifth time here in the shadow of the snow-capped Rockies, felt that the course was playing easier now because of a week of rain. But with a week of sunny weather predicted, they figured that the greens would dry out, fail to hold chip shots and thereby boost the scoring.

Frostburg Team Shaken Up After Sunday Forfeit

The Frostburg Merchants have handed out releases to nine players, including six regulars, as a result of their failure to show up for the Sunday game at Flintstone.

Flintstone won the game via the forfeit route when Frostburg was only able to field eight players for the Pen-Mar League contests.

John Sullivan, president of the Frostburg Club, last night stated that players released are Junie Perry, Joe Taylor, Andy Felker, Joe Hughes, Roy Reed, Joe Bolt, Paul Nolan, "Baldy" Powell and Ernie Nimmons.

New faces added include Allan Stevenson, Walter Crowe, Wes Lashbaugh, Jack Bahen, Van Parsons, Rick Garlitz, Roger Manges and Jim Rice.

Sullivan stated that Frostburg had 22 players under contract, 17 were ununiformed and there was no good reason why only eight were available for Sunday's game.

The Merchants will practice today and Friday at 6 p. m., at Beall High School Field.

Red Sox Get Nixon, Hardy

Trade Bowsfield, Keough To Indians

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox, beating the trading deadline by two days, obtained Cleveland Indians catcher Russ Nixon and outfielder Marty Keough.

Three other players were involved in the no-cash transaction. Nixon and outfielder Carroll Hardy coming to the Red Sox in exchange for pitcher Ted Bowsfield and outfielder Marty Keough.

Nixon, 25, was originally traded to Boston for Red Sox catcher Sammy White in a spring training deal nullified a few days later last March by baseball Commissioner Ford Frick when White quit baseball.

Nixon is considered the key man in the trade as the Red Sox seek help in the catching department. But the 27-year-old Hardy is considered by Red Sox officials as an excellent prospect. A former pro football fullback, Hardy is extremely fast and a right-handed batter — more suited to Fenway Park's short left field than the left-handed hitting Keough. Hardy had been to bat only 18 times with the Indians this season and is batting .111.

Bowsfield, a lefty, had a 1-2 record as a reliever for Boston Keough, a $100,000 bonus player when signed by Boston in 1952, batted .245 for the Red Sox this season appearing in 38 games.

Nixon is one of the better hitting American League catchers, though he has not played much since the Indians obtained Hank Foiles from Pittsburgh several weeks ago.

Lonaconing	0	4	.000

Frostburg team dominated play in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League yesterday when the Little Moes trounced Cresaptown at the latter place by the score of 20-1 and the Mounties won a slugfest affair from Lonaconing in the Mountain City to the tune of 18-13.

The Mt. Savage at Westernport game was postponed until Wednesday and will be transferred to Mt. Savage on that day.

Manager Bob Goldsworthy's Little Moes helped themselves to 22 hits as they rolled to their third straight league victory without a defeat.

Gerald Coie was the Little Moes' "big gun" with four hits, as many official trips — a triple, double and two singles — Vince Catania and Jim Diehl smacked three hits each and Wayne Harper and Bill Diehl hammered home runs.

Ronnie Frazier scattered seven hits and whiffed nine Cresaptown batters. Kermit Clem, Kay Miller and Paul Riley had two hits each for the losers.

Charley Ware's Mounties scored in every inning but the fifth in beating "Coney" and upping their record to an even .500 mark for the season with two wins and two losses.

Ronnie Ware got credit for the win and Danny Sloan was tagged with the loss.

Chuck Gray homered, doubled and singled and Robert Ashby clouted a round-tripper, three-bagger and single or the Mounties while "Butch" Cutter lapped a triple. Metz led Lonaconing's 11-hit attack with a home run and triple and Broadwater had a three-base hit to his credit.

Scout Troop 56 Finishes First Charter Year

Advancement Awards Presented

FROSTBURG — A combined charter presentation ceremony and Court of Honor was held by Boy Scout Troop 56 in St. Michael's Hall. The charter was presented to Joseph Struntz, institutional representative of Troop 56 by Kenneth Crowe, representing Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Presentation of advancement awards to members of the troop was conducted by Charles Newman, field representative, assisted by Wilbur L. Ross, scoutmaster.

Receiving awards for First Class were Michael Aldom, Joseph Struntz III, Larry Sperry, Richard Sive, Stephen Shumaker, Adrian Villa, Dennis Chambers, Richards Mastro, Robert Pressman and Michael Kenney. Eight scouts were advanced to second class rank and received their advancement awards. These included Dennis Crowe, Donald Crowe, Raymond Wimbrenner, Larry Malloy, James Malloy, Wayne Lavin, Arthur Valenzano and Robert Stakem.

Seventeen boys were awarded one year service stars. One two year service star was awarded. Merit badges were awarded to Joseph Grimm for bugling and for reading to Joseph Struntz and John Valenzano. A gold plated perfect attendance award was presented to Joseph Struntz for perfect attendance during the 1959 charter year.

A special award of an official Boy Scout axe was donated by the troop committee to the first troop member attaining first class rank, and was won by Joseph Struntz. The presentation was made by Franklin Shumaker and Charles L. Stevens, assistant scoutmasters.

Mr. Ross, scoutmaster, was presented a watch by the Scouts of the troop for his efforts in making a success of this new troop which was formed in May of 1959.

LONACONING — Past Commander Lorraine Thrasher has been notified by Irvin E. Marders, department senior vice commander, and membership chairman, that he and Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lonaconing, have been successful in winning a membership trophy for the year 1960.

Fire Destroys Dwelling On Big Savage

FROSTBURG — An early morning fire destroyed a one-story three-room home about a mile west of Frostburg on Big Savage Mountain yesterday.

The frame dwelling, owned by Albert Boettcher, was gutted in the blaze which is reported to have started around 3:30 a.m.

Three trucks from the Frostburg Fire Department and a tanker and another truck from the Clarysville Volunteer Fire Department answered the alarm, turned in by three youths at the Frostburg station after they passed the blaze on the highway.

Firemen said the home was unoccupied and that Mr. Boettcher could not be located. Witnesses have reported that the owner had been seen on the property at various times yesterday.

Origin of the fire has not been determined, firemen said.

LONACONING—Past Commander Lorraine Thrasher has been notified by Irvin E. Marders, department senior vice commander, and membership chairman, that he and Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lonaconing, have been successful in winning a membership trophy for the year 1960.

Fire Destroys Dwelling On Big Savage

FROSTBURG—An early morning fire destroyed a one-story three-room home about a mile west of Frostburg on Big Savage Mountain yesterday.

The frame dwelling, owned by Albert Boettcher, was gutted in the blaze which is reported to have started around 3:30 a.m.

Three trucks from the Frostburg Fire Department and a tanker and another truck from the Clarysville Volunteer Fire Department answered the alarm, turned in by three youths at the Frostburg station after they passed the blaze on the highway.

Firemen said the home was unoccupied and that Mr. Boettcher could not be located. Witnesses have reported that the owner had been seen on the property at various times yesterday.

Origin of the fire has not been determined, firemen said.

Deaths And Funerals In The Tri-State Area

MRS. DONALD G. STROUP

WESTERNPORT— Mrs. Helen Stroup, 37, wife of Donald G. Stroup, of Lewistown, Pa., died yesterday in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, where she had been a patient since April 10.

A native of here, she was a daughter of Mrs. Margaret H. Gillespie, 322 Maryland Avenue. She was a member of the Army Nurses Corps in World War II and had served in Calcutta, India.

Mrs. Stroup was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church and Victory Post 155, American Legion. Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Patricia Ann and a son, James Kevin Stroup.

The body will be taken to the Boal Funeral Home here.

MRS. GOLDIZEN RITES

JORDAN RUN, W.Va. — Services for Mrs. Bertha F. Goldizen, 70, wife of Gabriel Goldizen, who died at her home here Sunday, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. (EST) at Cabins Assembly of God Church by Rev. Ira Moore. Burial will be in the Goldizen Family Cemetery.

The body is at the Schaeffer Funeral Home, Petersburg, and will be taken to the church at noon tomorrow.

CHRYSLER

1959 DODGE

A Dodge Royal hardtop 2 door that reflects the good care given it in the few thousand miles it has been driven. Light green and white, a refreshing color combination for the exterior. The same combination of color for the spotless interior of vinyl and fabric. Thick green floor carpets and whitewall tires complete the luxury appearance. The D-500 engine and torque-flite transmission make a great team for ease of driving. Power brakes, power steering, tinted glass. Of course there's a heater, radio, and numerous small accessories. Be sure to see and drive this like-new car.

Garrett County Flood Control Bids Sought

Project Slated Near Oakland

Bids are being sought for the second in a series of floodwater retaining structures, consisting of earthen embankment and appurtenances at Site No. 2, Little Youghiogheny River watershed, about a mile north of Oakland.

William Nace, work unit conservationist of the Garrett Soil Conservation District, announced last night that sealed bids, in single copy, will be received in the Band Room, City Hall Building in Oakland until 10 a.m. EDT July 6.

All bids, he added, must be accompanied by a bid bond, certified check, cashier's check or money order in an amount not less than 10 per cent of the amount bid. Checks or money orders if submitted must be made payable to the Garrett Soil Conservation District.

After the bid is awarded, said Mr. Nace, work will be started within 20 calendar days and all work will be completed within 90 calendar days from the date of receipt of notice to proceed.

Inspection of the site may be made by contacting Lewis R. Jones, contracting officer, First National Bank Building, Oakland. Complete assembly of the invitation of bids, instruction to bidders, bid form, contract, specifications and drawings may be obtained by interested parties from the contracting officer.

Mr. Nace said the first of the series of structures, aimed at flood control in that county, is now under construction by the George F. Hazelwood Company here and it is scheduled to be completed this summer at a cost of about $80,000.

The structure is located near Deer Park on the headwaters of the Little Youghiogheny River. Plans for the structures were made several years ago.

They are to be built with federal funds under sponsorship of the Garrett Soil Conservation District with the Town of Oakland and Garrett County as co-sponsors.

Tax Bills Returned To Office

Approximately 200 county and state tax bills mailed out by the Allegany County Tax Office have been returned to the office at the Court House because of wrong addresses.

William B. Orndorff, tax collector, said that those persons who have not received bills for 1960 taxes are asked to notify his office and also to notify the Assessing Department of any address changes.

Those who have not received their annual tax bills are not excused from paying them.

Since the first of this month, the office has been busy with taxpayers coming to the Court House to pay their taxes and getting advantage of a five per cent discount which will be prevalent during June.

Next month the discount will be four per cent and in August three per cent. After September 1 there will be one per cent interest charged each month on unpaid taxes.

Over a quarter of a million dollars have been collected at the local office and temporary offices set up around the county. Yesterday Mr. Orndorff said that to date $328,859.47 had been collected in taxes.

Visits will be made to communities throughout the county June, July and August, said Mr. Orndorff.

Airport Commission To Meet Wednesday

The Municipal Airport Commission will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall.

Business will include possible action on the selection of an operator to succeed Warren Mullen, who is giving up the operation on July 31.

The commission will also discuss a request of the Steel Cities Region of the Sports Car Club of America to conduct a competitive driver's school on the airport July 24.

Associated Charities Board Meets Thursday

The Board of Directors of the Associated Charities will meet Thursday at 3:45 p.m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Business will include the annual election of officers and action on a new budget.

Safety Inspections Begin

The annual safety inspection and registration of bicycles, a joint venture of the Cumberland Police Department and the Cumberland Optimist Club, began last night at Post Playground. Officer Charles Cabbage, at typewriter, is issuing one of the first registration cards as Leo F. Barkman, chairman of the Optimist committee, and James Nixon inspect the bikes and fill out application blanks. Today's registration begins at 6 p.m. at East Side Playground. No tags will be issued at Police Headquarters until June 27. Officer Cabbage said. The playground inspection continues until June 24.

C. R. WEATHERHOLT

Local Printer Heads Tri-State Conference

C. Raymond Weatherholt, 1306 Michigan Avenue, a Times and Allegany Company printer, has been elected president of the Tri-State Conference of the International Typographical Union.

Mr. Weatherholt, a former vice president of the conference, was elected at the organization's 87th semi-annual meeting over the weekend at Conneaut Lake Park in northwestern Pennsylvania.

He is the immediate past president of Cumberland Local 244, ITU, and for several years was printing teacher at Allegany High School. He succeeds Alfred R. Glaser as president of the Tri-State Conference, which embraces 30 local unions in western Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

Other officers are Ralph M. Cable, Greensburg-Jeanette, Pa., first vice president; Richard J. Reed, Wheeling, second vice president; Marvin Weaver, Hagerstown, third vice president; David G. R. Welsh, Beaver Valley, Pa., fourth vice president.

H. Dewitt Chapman, Erie, Pa., was named fifth vice president, and Irvin M. Kelley, Altoona, Pa., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Also representing Cumberland Local 244 were Ronald N. Sterne, president, Louis W. Aldridge, and J. W. Whetzel.

Mr. Whetzel was elected secretary of a newly-formed apprentice conference and will help complete plans for the conference's organization.

The Tri-State Conference will hold its next meeting late in October at Johnstown, Pa.

Marine Unit Has Openings

The 43d Rifle Company, Marine Corps Reserve, has openings for young men interested in the corps six-month training program, according to Capt. Billy C. Menges, commanding officer.

Capt. Menges said openings are available to youths between the ages of 17 and 26 who are out of school or who have completed their education. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the reserve unit at the Navy and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center on McKaig's Hill.

Persons enlisting in this program will be sent to Parris Island, S. C. for 13 weeks of recruit training in August, September, October or November.

After the completion of recruit training, the group will be transferred to Camp Lejeune, N. C. for four weeks of combat training and eight weeks of advanced training. The enlistees will be granted a 15-day leave during the training period.

Upon completion of the six-months training, the men will be assigned to the local rifle company and will be deferred from training and service under the Military Training and Service Act.

Conservation Convention To Be Attended

Four or five representatives of the Allegany County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors are expected to attend the annual convention of the State Association of Soil Conservation Districts July 25-27 at Ocean City.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service here, reported to the supervisors recently on the May activities. Tile drainage ditches were laid on four farms in the county. Included were 560 feet on the farm of Harry Barton, Pinto; 3,700 feet on the farm of Kenneth Bittinger, Mexico Farms; 475 feet on the farm of W. A. B. Liller, Baltimore Pike, and 900 feet at Glen Savage Dairy, Mt. Savage.

Contour strips were set out during May on the farms of Nat Workman, Frostburg, and William Shipley, Flintstone. Three basic conservation plans also were approved last month. They were for the farms of R. B. Moore, 138 acres; Charles O. Walters, 510 acres, and Fred Morrison, 1,020 acres, all in the Oldtown area.

New cooperators during May were Charles P. Barger of Silver Spring, who owns 80 acres on Warrior Mountain, and Walter H. Geiger, who owns 646 acres on Johnson Road.

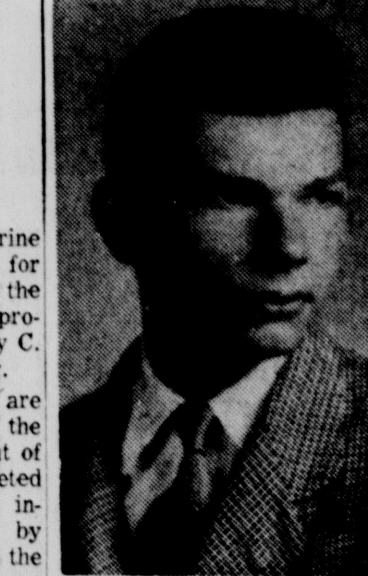

Music Supervisor Presented Plaque During Concert

Dr. Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education in public schools of Allegany County, got a pleasant surprise Sunday afternoon during the spring concert presented at Allegany High School by the Youth Wind Ensemble.

He was presented a silver engraved plaque by Raymond V. Adams on behalf of the parents of the children in appreciation for the time and energy he has given toward the children's musical education.

On the reverse side of the plaque is Sunday's program and the names of the young musicians who presented the concert to an appreciative audience.

The ensemble, Dr. Gamble said, will rehearse this summer in preparation for at least two outdoor concerts which will be presented during the latter part of July at the Amelle pool grounds and at Constitution Park.

WILL GRADUATE — Wayne L. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Long, 436 Race Street, will participate in graduation exercises at Tri-State College, Angola, Ind., on Thursday. He has been enrolled under Tri-State's cooperative educational training program in which he alternated periods of academic study with work periods at Frigidaria Division, General Motors, in Dayton, Ohio. He seeks a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, power and industrial controls option. He is a 1955 Fort Hill High School graduate and is married to the former Verna Sue Willett of New Lebanon, Ohio.

Squires' Director To Talk At Frostburg Convention

William L. Piedmont, director of the Columbian Squires Division of the Supreme Council, Knights of Columbus, will be guest speaker Sunday during the banquet of the Maryland State Circle of Columbian Squires which convenes in Frostburg this weekend.

The banquet will begin at 5 p.m. in the cafeteria of St. Michael's parish. William L. Colgan, chief counselor of Father Bradley Circle 1218, will be toastmaster. The welcome address will be made by William Kidwell, chief squire of the host circle sponsored by Frostburg Council 1442, K of C.

Guests will include Carl L. Firle, district deputy of the K of C; Leon Kidwell, grand knight of the Frostburg Council; James Brailer, grand knight at Mt. Savage; Lawrence Geiger, grand knight of Cumberland council and Leo McNally, grand knight of the Oakland council.

The Frostburg council home will be headquarters for the convention which opens with registration from 10 a.m. until noon on Saturday. After a buffet luncheon the first business meeting will begin at 1 a.m. in the council home.

Mr. Piedmont, who is a native of Norfolk, Va., is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame and was a member of the final class in the K of C course in Boy Guidance held at Notre Dame. His degrees are AB and MA.

Following his graduation from Notre Dame he served as co-director of Catholic Youth Activities in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. He joined the staff of the K of C Columbian Squires Division in 1940.

During World War II he served in the Navy and after being discharged he rejoined the staff of the Columbian Squires Division and after 18 months of field work was promoted as assistant to the director, at that time John J. Contway. In 1954 Mr. Contway retired and Supreme Knight Luke E. Hart appointed Mr. Piedmont as his successor.

He is also active in community affairs being a past president and founder of the Babe Ruth League in North Haven, Conn. where he lives with his wife the former Agatha MacNaughton of Sault Ste. Marie, and family.

Mr. Piedmont is internationally known as a youth expert and has gained experience in this field not only from his education and job experience but also as the father of seven children, four girls and three boys, two of whom are presently members of the Marian Circle of Columbian Squires in North Haven.

Riggleman Named Forest Warden

Hagerstown Man's Car Gutted By Fire

An auto belonging to a Hagerstown man was destroyed by fire sometime Saturday night on Williams Road in the vicinity of Irons Mountain.

Maryland State Police said the owner of the car was Walter E. Oldham Jr. of 543 West Church Street. The car was discovered by police on Sunday and it was towed away since it was causing a traffic hazard.

Veteran Health Workers To Be Honored June 21

Two Health Department workers who have devoted a total of 59 years of service toward better health in Allegany County will be honored by their associates next week.

Miss Grace M. Hardman, 801 Bedford Street, and Mrs. Etta M. Price, 536 Valley Street, will be the guests of honor at a dinner meeting June 21 at 6:30 p.m. at Minke's Cottage Inn.

The event will be sponsored by the Allegany County Health Social Group, which includes members of the staffs of the Allegany County Health Department, Branch Laboratory, the Allegany County League for Crippled Children and the Associated Charities.

Miss Hardman will retire June 30 after 27 years of service as a public health nurse.

She began her public health nursing career June 1, 1923, with the Cumberland Health Department and has been affiliated with the Allegany County Health Department since 1956, when the Case formula was adopted.

She has been assigned to Cumberland during all of her public health career.

Miss Hardman is a graduate of old Western Maryland Hospital here and served as a floor supervisor at the hospital before going with the Health Department.

Mrs. Price, wife of Robert Price, was a member of the staff of the State Health Department's branch laboratory here for 32 years.

She was employed as a laboratory helper and is believed to be the first person in Maryland to hold such a position.

She began work at the laboratory here September 15, 1927, and retired December 1, 1959.

Witnesses Will Attend Convention

Jehovah's Witnesses of the Cumberland Congregation have been invited to attend a four-day convention in Washington's Griffith Stadium, July 14-17.

Grant Furman, overseer of the Cumberland Congregation, announced that he plans to head a delegation to the assembly.

Mr. Furman said the convention is one of 14 large "Peace Pursuing District Assemblies" scheduled this summer for the United States and Canada by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, Brooklyn, New York. From 20,000 to 25,000 Jehovah's Witnesses from seven states are expected to attend.

"Instruction in the Bible is the primary purpose of this convention," Mr. Furman said. "Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will feature Bible talks, experiences in ministry, and demonstrations to help the Witnesses pursue lasting peace in God's way."

The local congregation has been asked to supply volunteers to man the more than 20 departments set up for this convention. A total of 6500 volunteers will be needed for this massive operation.

Landslide Traps Missionary

MARYKNOLL, N. Y. (UPI) — A team of four Maryknoll missionaries are trapped by landslides near a remote aborigine village in the highlands of central Formosa, the Maryknoll headquarters here announced Monday.

A Maryknoll spokesman said heavy rain and bad visibility had prevented a Formosan air force helicopter from rescuing members of the team since their disappearance was reported Sunday.

The team members were identified as Brother Francis Wempe, of Cumberland, Md., and Sister Doctor Antonia Maria Guerrieri of Strawbridge, Mass., and a Formosan nurse and ambulance driver. They were trapped with team leader, the Rev. William Statham last Friday after heavy rains had obliterated mountain trails.

Father Stratham walked 90 miles to Taichung, a mountain center, to report the team's predicament, arriving there Sunday. He said the group was trapped on a 6,000 foot mountainside near the village of Kong Seng.

Woman Assumes Secretary Duties

Mrs. Eleanor T. Lloyd, 15 Welsh Street, Frostburg, has assumed the duties as secretary in the State's Attorney's office here.

Mrs. Lloyd had worked the past six years for the office of the Chief of Engineers in Washington, D.C., and recently received a certificate and cash award for "Sustained Superior Performance" for the year ending September 30, 1960 from that office.

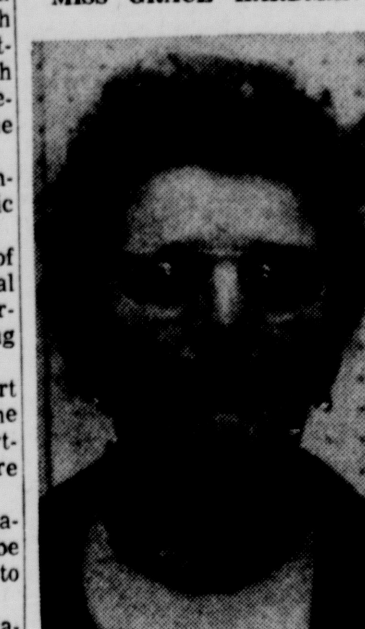

She is the wife of William H. Lloyd, Alexandria, Va., and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fuller Davis, Frostburg.

Fort Hill Teacher Returns

Curtis O. Gilpin, Fort Hill High School algebra teacher who has been teaching at Samsun, Turkey, since last September under a Fulbright grant, has returned home over the weekend.

Mr. Gilpin is at home with his mother, Mrs. Helen A. Gilpin, on Bedford Road. He returned to this country Saturday after a jet flight across the Atlantic from Frankfurt, Germany, to New York City.

He laughingly recalled last night that the bus trip from Samsun to Ankara, where he boarded his first plane, took 12 hours while his total flying time in returning home was only about 11 hours.

The bus trip ordinarily is not quite so slow but it caught fire and also was involved in a minor traffic accident. His plane stops were at Istanbul, Munich, Frankfurt, New York and finally Washington, where his family met him.

Mr. Gilpin taught in Turkey through a United States education exchange grant given by the State Department under the Fulbright Act for a year of teaching there.

The highlight of his travel was a five-day visit to Jerusalem with eight other American teachers in February.

He commended the Turkish people for their success with a bloodless revolution which overthrew the autocratic Menderes regime. He said the Turks are quite emotional and make no effort to hide their feelings.

Mayor To Attend Municipal Meet

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that Water Commissioner G. Ray Light will serve as acting mayor while he is attending a conference of the Maryland Municipal League.

Mayor Keech will leave here Friday morning for Ocean City in preparation for a League council meeting Sunday night. He is a vice president of the municipal organization.

He said Commissioners John J. Long and Mrs. Lucile Roeder may attend the meetings.

The conference sessions begin Monday at 10 a.m. Subjects will include municipal codes and their enforcement, urban renewal and the small city, planning for community development and uniform traffic codes.

Tuesday's sessions will include discussions on citizen and business participation in urban renewal, a legislation summary and a public hearing before the State-City-County Fiscal Relations Commission.

11 Companies Oppose Gas Rate Increase

PSC To Hear Case June 26

Western Maryland industries, already recipients of natural gas rate hikes amounting to 53 per cent in the past seven years, are facing another ten per cent boost in gas prices.

And this, termed excessive by a group of 11 companies, is beginning to cause alarm among all industrial users in this section.

This and other reasons are contained in a statement filed yesterday with the Maryland Public Service Commission by attorneys for 11 Allegany and Garrett County large industrial consumers.

The 11 are intervenors in the case involving the application of the C&A Gas Company to increase its rates.

A hearing will be held before the PSC in Baltimore on Wednesday, June 22, and William C. Walsh and William A. Gunter, attorneys for the 11 companies, will participate in the proceedings in opposition to the rate hike.

The proposed increase amounts to approximately ten per cent for industrial users and approximately 20 per cent for domestic heating consumers, the statement declared.

The 11 companies fighting the proposed rate boost are Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Celanese Fibers Company, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Kaiser Refractories and Chemical Division of Kaiser Aluminum and Chemicals Corporation, Mt. Savage Refractories Company, Ort Brothers Bakery, Community Baking Company, Crystal Laundry Company, and Ballards, Inc., all of which operate plants in Allegany County and Harbison-Walker Refractories Company, which operates a plant at Jennings in Garrett County.

These plants consume 1,350,000 worth of natural gas a year, and in the event the application would be granted, the increase since 1953 would amount to 63 per cent.

"Even in these days of rising prices, this amount of increase is unusual and would appear to be excessive, and it is certainly alarming to the industrial customers of the gas company," the statement pointed out.

The 11 plants, Gunter and Walsh pointed out, employ a total of 6,640 men and women. Broken down by each plant, the number of workers is as follows:

Celanese, 3,000; West Virginia Pulp and Paper, 2,225; Pittsburgh Plate, 750; the three bakeries, 220; Kaiser, 150; Harbison-Walker, 125; Mt. Savage Refractories, 90, and Crystal and Ballards, 80.

The statement said that "employment throughout the United States is declining, that there is already a considerable amount of unemployment in Allegany and Garrett counties, and that it is vital to the welfare of the people of these two counties that any further unemployment be held to a minimum."

The continuous increase in rates, the companies declare, may affect the ability of some of them, who are in direct competition with similar industries in other areas, to furnish employment in the two counties.

The attorneys also pointed out that West Virginia Pulp and Paper changed from the use of coal to gas about 1950 at its Luke Mill.

Alfalfa Weevil Larvae Damage County Crops

Alfalfa weevil larvae are doing damage to the crops of Allegany County, Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, said yesterday.

The weevil are present on second growth alfalfa according to Mr. Steger, who said that damage is greatest in the windrows left from first cutting.

Now is the time to spray bagworms which have begun to hatch on junipers and other evergreens. Don't wait until the bags are big enough to see from the house, warns Mr. Steger.

He said a thorough application of lead arsenate at one quarter cup per gallon or one pound to 25 gallons, with a sticker (flour or a commercial sticker) will clean out the bagworms.

Another pest, the Japanese beetle, is due soon. Protect susceptible plants: rose, elm and linden with sprays of DDT or lindane. Repeat sprays will be necessary on rose.

Garrett County Flood Control Bids Sought

Project Slated Near Oakland

Bids are being sought for the second in a series of floodwater retarding structures, consisting of earthfill embankment and appurtenances at Site No. 2, Little Youghiogheny River watershed, about a mile north of Oakland.

William Nace, work unit conservationist of the Garrett Soil Conservation District, announced last night that sealed bids, in single copy, will be received in the Band Room, City Hall Building in Oakland until 10 a.m. EDT July 6.

All bids, he added, must be accompanied by a bid bond, certified check, cashier's check or money order in an amount not less than 10 per cent of the amount bid. Checks or money orders if submitted must be made payable to the Garrett Soil Conservation District.

After the bid is awarded, said Mr. Nace, work will be started within 20 calendar days and all work will be completed within 90 calendar days from the date of receipt of notice to proceed.

Inspection of the site may be made by contacting Lewis R. Jones, contracting officer, First National Bank Building, Oakland. Complete assembly of the invitation of bids, instruction to bidders, bid form, contract, specifications and drawings may be obtained by interested parties from the contracting officer.

Mr. Nace said the first of the series of structures, aimed at flood control in that county, is now under construction by the George F. Hazelwood Company here and it is scheduled to be completed this summer at a cost of about $80,000.

The structure is located near Deer Park on the headwaters of the Little Youghiogheny River. Plans for the structures were made several years ago.

They are to be built with federal funds under sponsorship of the Garrett Soil Conservation District with the Town of Oakland and Garrett County as co-sponsors.

Tax Bills Returned To Office

Approximately 200 county and state tax bills mailed out by the Allegheny County Tax Office have been returned to the office at the Court House because of wrong addresses.

William B. Orndorff, tax collector, said that those persons who have not received bills for 1960 taxes are asked to notify his office and also to notify the Assessing Department of any address changes.

Those who have not received their annual tax bills are not excused from paying them.

Since the first of this month the office has been busy with taxpayers coming to the Court House to pay their taxes and getting advantage of a five per cent discount which will be prevalent during June.

Next month the discount will be four per cent and in August three per cent. After September 1 there will be one per cent interest charged each month on unpaid taxes.

Over a quarter of a million dollars have been collected at the local office and temporary offices set up around the county. Yesterday Mr. Orndorff said that to date $528,859.47 had been collected in taxes.

Visits will be made to communities throughout the county June, July and August, said Mr. Orndorff.

Airport Commission To Meet Wednesday

The Municipal Airport Commission will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

Business will include possible action on the selection of an operator to succeed Warren Mullenbach, who is giving up the operation on July 31.

The commission will also discuss a request of the Steel Cities Region of the Sports Car Club of America to conduct a competitive driver's school on the airport July 24.

Associated Charities Board Meets Thursday

The Board of Directors of the Associated Charities will meet Thursday at 3:45 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Business will include the annual election of officers and action on a new budget.

Conservation Convention To Be Attended

Four or five representatives of the Allegheny County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors are expected to attend the annual convention of the State Association of Soil Conservation Districts July 25-27 at Ocean City.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service here, reported to the supervisors recently on the May activities. The drainage ditches were laid on four farms in the county. Included were 560 feet on the farm of Harry Barton, Pinto; 3,700 feet on the farm of Kenneth Bittinger, Mexico Farms; 475 feet on the farm of W. A. B. Liller, Baltimore Pike, and 900 feet at Glen Savage Dairy, Mt. Savage.

Contour strips were set out during May on the farms of Nat Workman, Frostburg, and William Shipley, Flintstone. Three basic conservation plans also were approved last month. They were for the farms of R. B. Moore, 138 acres; Charles O. Walters, 510 acres; and Fred Morrison, 1,020 acres, all in the Oldtown area.

New cooperators during May were Charles P. Barger of Silver Spring, who owns 80 acres on Warrior Mountain, and Walter H. Geiger, who owns 646 acres on Johnson Road.

Music Supervisor Presented Plaque During Concert

Dr. Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education in public schools of Allegheny County, got a pleasant surprise Sunday afternoon during the spring concert presented at Allegheny High School by the Youth Wind Ensemble.

He was presented a silver engraved plaque by Raymond V. Vanders on behalf of the parents of the children in appreciation for the time and energy he has given toward the children's musical education.

On the reverse side of the plaque is Sunday's program and the names of the young musicians who presented the concert to an appreciative audience.

The ensemble, Dr. Gamble said, will rehearse this summer in preparation for at least two outdoor concerts which will be presented during the latter part of July at the Amelle pool grounds and at Constitution Park.

WILL GRADUATE — Wayne L. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Long, 436 Race Street, will participate in graduation exercises at Tri-State College, Angola, Ind., on Thursday. He has been enrolled under Tri-State's cooperative educational training program in which he alternated periods of academic study with work periods at Frigidaire Division, General Motors, in Dayton, Ohio. He seeks a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, power and industrial controls option. He is a 1955 Fort Hill High School graduate and is married to the former Verna Sue Willett of New Lebanon, Ohio.

Squires' Director To Talk At Frostburg Convention

William L. Piedmont, director of the Columbian Squires Division of the Supreme Council, Knights of Columbus, will be guest speaker Sunday during the banquet of the Maryland State Circle of Columbian Squires which convenes in Frostburg this weekend.

The banquet will begin at 5 p. m. in the cafeteria of St. Michael's parish. William L. Colgan, chief counselor of Father Bradley Circle 1218, will be toastmaster. The welcome address will be made by William Kidwell, chief squire of the host circle sponsored by Frostburg Council 1442, K of C.

Guests will include Carl L. Firle, district deputy of the K of C; Leon Kidwell, grand knight of the Frostburg Council; James Brailor, grand knight at Mt. Savage; Lawrence Geiger, grand knight of Cumberland council and Leo McNally, grand knight of the Oakland council.

The Frostburg council home will be headquarters for the convention which opens with registration from 10 a. m. until noon on Saturday. After a buffet luncheon the first business meeting will begin at 1 a. m. in the council home.

Mr. Piedmont, who is a native of Norfolk, Va., is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame and was a member of the final class in the K of C course in Boy Guidance held at Notre Dame. His degrees are AB and MA.

Following his graduation from Notre Dame he served as co-ordinator of Catholic Youth Activities in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. He joined the staff of the K of C Columbian Squires Division in 1940.

During World War II he served in the Navy and after being discharged he rejoined the staff of the Columbian Squires Division and after 18 months of field work was promoted as assistant to the director, at that time John J.
